

WHAT

HAVE I DONE?

You've Eaten Your First Republican!

And you're feeling a little bit guilty about it. That's okay. It's natural. Everybody feels guilty about it... the first time.

You no doubt have lots of questions about the complex thoughts and feelings associated with initial cannibalism.

Q: When will I stop being in so much pain?

A: Whew, that's a toughie! I can't answer for all cases, but as a general guide- if it's the morals, then probably never. But if it's the kuru, then pretty darn soon! See the receptionist about our Hardy Marty(r) program.

Q: How can I make my friends and family understand?

A: If they aren't democrats, they sadly never will. But on the upside, your family NOT being democrats greatly decreases your chances of starvation!

Q: My self loathing now almost equals my hatred and fear of republicans.

A: I'm sorry, but that's not a question.

Q: Why do I feel so terrible?

A: Republican Mind Control Lasers.

Now for some...

Fun Ways to Erase the Evidence!

- Serve him to your friends as meatpies, see if they can tell the difference!
- Bury the bits in the yard of a prominent Republican Senator. Remember to alert the media!
- Donate the remains to starving children in Africa!
- Root out the traitor's family and friends. Be careful with this one, those abortionless peanuckles can have HUGE families!
- Pretend that the corpse is alive. This one ALWAYS fools the cops, and ALWAYS leads to hilarious results!
- Whatever you do, do not implicate the party in any of this. It would ruin the fun!

Sincerely,
Peter Grey, Founder

Handwritten signature of Peter Grey.